

Equitel is Now Available to All Kenyans

Equitel has been serving Equity Bank customers through a hybrid SIM card that merged mobile communication with financial access. It was a simple but transformative idea: one SIM card offering both mobile connectivity and financial freedom.

Over the years, it has morphed enabling secure money transfers, seamless bank account access, airtime top-ups, internet connectivity, and more. This dual functionality redefined convenience for Kenyans seeking both mobile services and a reliable financial gateway.

Equitel is Now Available to All Kenyans

Equitel is now open to all qualified Kenyan, including non-Equity Bank customers. With this new development, anyone with a valid national ID or passport can now get an Equitel line, even if they do not hold an Equity Bank account, as previously required.

To get an Equitel SIM card, simply visit any Equity Bank branch near you with your National Identification Card or passport and get one.

Why Equitel Stands Out

Affordable Voice and Data: Competitive call rates and reliable internet coverage.

Seamless Mobile Money Services: Send money, pay bills, buy airtime, and access loans straight from your phone.

Widely Accessible: Available at any Equity branch nationwide.

5G-Ready Network: Enjoy ultra-fast internet speeds and low latency with Equitel's 5G capability.

eSIM Support: Use Equitel without a physical SIM card on supported smartphones, perfect for modern, minimalist lifestyles.

Meta Description: Equitel is now open to all Kenyans. You don't need to be an Equity Bank customer. Walk into any Equity Branch today to get connected.
